

Trade, Like Reds, Headed Underground

— Washburn

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—An Arkansas editor and publisher said today American business has joined the Communist party "in going underground" as the result of a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision.

Alex H. Washburn, editor and publisher of the Hope, Ark., Star, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Shreveport Advertising Club.

He said a Dec. 11 decision of the Supreme Court destroyed the secrecy of information that citizens give the Bureau of the Census.

"The Communists went underground because the government is after them," Washburn said in a prepared text, "but government advises private businessmen to go underground because the Supreme Court is after them."

The Supreme Court held in its Dec. 11 decision, Washburn said, that while the Federal Trade Commission might not touch the census files, it could require a private company to surrender its carbon copies, a decision he termed "highly satisfactory" to the Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department.

The director of the Census Bureau, Washburn said, "promptly" made public a letter advising companies they aren't legally required to retain copies of what they sent to his bureau.

The great danger in this country today, he said, is that bureaucrats are writing law without benefit of the Congress. And the high court is upholding the bureaucrats against the citizens.

Weir Continues Rice Acres Fight

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Attorneys for rice farmer James Weir, of Dermott, who contends that acreage allotments are unconstitutional, have filed notice that they will take testimony from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman at Little Rock next Monday.

However, U.S. Attorney Robert D. Smith said he doubted that Freeman would come here.

He said he believed attorneys William F. Billings and James P. Donovan of Dallas, who filed the notice, would have to go to Washington to get a deposition from Freeman.

U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley recently upheld the levy of $26,327 against Weir for overplanting acreage allotments in 1959 and 1959.

But the judge delayed effective date of the order to permit taking of a deposition from Freeman, as Weir's attorneys had said previously they wanted to do.

Another Cold Blast Hits Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another blast of frigid air spread across snow-covered sections from Montana into Indiana today, a repeat of last week's severe cold in the Midwest.

Temperatures dropped sharply as the icy air, in the wake of the year's second major snowstorm, fanned out from the mountain valleys in southwestern Montana.

The mercury dipped to more than 20 degrees below in the Montana region, touching -25 in Bozeman and -24 in Drummond, then 20 degrees below in the arctic air, with readings of -16 in International Falls, -13 in Duluth and -11 in Minneapolis.

Below zero marks also were reported in the Dakotas and sections of Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. Chicago had a fresh snowfall of seven inches in zero weather. It was -8 in nearby Joliet, Ill.

Some of the cold air extended deep in the South. Temperatures were as much as 30 degrees lower than Monday morning's marks southward into southern Louisiana.

The storm which dumped up to 10 inches of snow across Midwest areas abated as it moved northeastward. Rains continued in northern New England and snow flurries persisted westward from the northern Appalachians into the northern Great Lakes.

Fairly mild winter weather prevailed in most of the East. It was below freezing in Atlanta, Meridian, Miss., Memphis and Chattanooga, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark. Mild readings were reported in most of southern Florida, with 66 in Miami.

In New York State, a wall of ice floes 12 feet high in the normally calm Fulmer Creek caused flooding in parts of the village of Mohawk, near Ulica, in the Mohawk River valley.

Ice floes also curtailed barge traffic on the Mississippi River near Cairo, Ill., and on the Illinois River near Marseilles, Ill. Ice jams were reported in the Washash River above Terre Haute, Ind.

Cites Apathy, Unconcern of the U. S.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A federal redevelopment official said here Monday night that he believed the only way the United States could lose any of its freedom was through apathy and unconcern.

Raymond C. Morrillson, co-ordinator of the AREA Redevelopment Administration, Department of Commerce, for Texas and Oklahoma, was principal speaker at the Russellville Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner meeting.

Morrison, whose headquarters is Fort Worth, urged his listeners to take more interest in government at the grass roots level.

That way they can influence government at the higher levels, he said.

Morrison said that as long as the majority of people voted, he was not afraid of what was going to happen.

And he said he did not believe the federal government would take any action which would destroy freedom.

Morrison said the work of his agency was mainly with depressed areas. He said East Texas was typical of such areas, recounting that 10 counties in the section had lost some 68,000 people, especially young people attracted by industry in Dallas and Fort Worth.

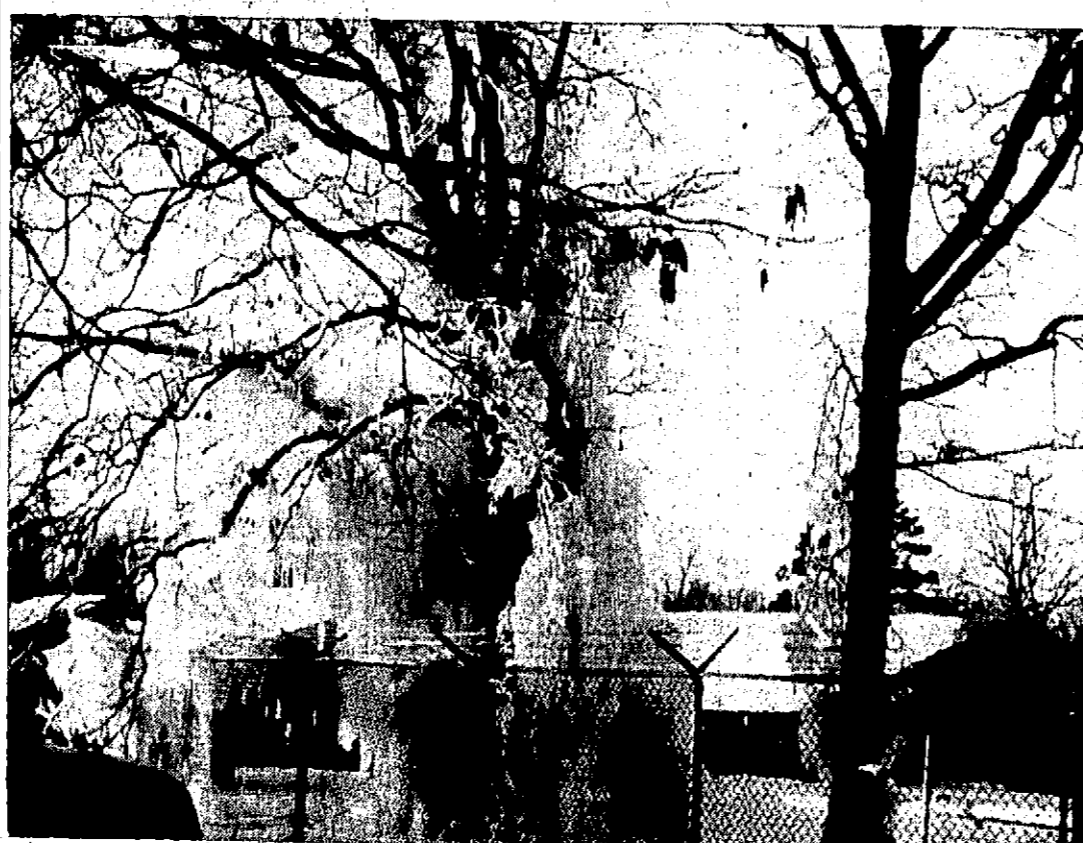

The speaker said that expansion of an existing industry was the easiest kind to finance and urged every community to look to what it already has with a view to possible expansion.

And he added that potential industries are interested in the kind of culture a community has to offer their employees.

Army Airlift Sends 6,000 to Germany

By JOHN FIEHN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The spearhead of a U.S. Army force of 6,000 men began flying into West Germany from the United States today in one of the biggest peacetime airlift exercises.

Flying non-stop via the polar route from McChord Air Force Base in Washington, a giant C135 jet transport with 78 men of the 4th Infantry Division touched down at Rhine-Main Air Base outside Frankfurt.

Until the airlift is completed Monday planes will be landing almost around the clock.

The airlift, dubbed "Long Thrust II," is the first overseas airlift by the Strike Force Command, a new unified Army-Air Force fire brigade organization designed to speed U.S. forces in any trouble spot in the world.

It is a major test of U.S. capability to rush troops to Europe in an emergency—such as could arise from the Berlin crisis.

The first arrivals were welcomed by a group of officers headed by Gen. Charles D. Palmer, deputy commander in chief of the U.S. European Command, and a French colonel representing Gen. Pierre Jaquet, commander of NATO forces in central Europe.

"Long Thrust" involves three reinforced battle groups of the 4th Infantry commanded by Maj. Gen. William F. Train, who is due in Frankfurt Wednesday. The troops will take part in a four-day NATO field exercise in eastern Bavaria.

A total of 87 transports—10 of them C135 stratolifter jets—will be involved in the airlift, flying four different routes. Some will make several trips.

From Frankfurt the troops will proceed by truck to the Mannheim area to collect their equipment, jeeps, trucks, Patton tanks, armored personnel carriers and guns.

The troops will remain in Mannheim, the U.S. Army's major supply and maintenance area in Germany, for about 10 days. Then they will go to the Hohenfels training area, in eastern Bavaria, for a four-day maneuver in which planes of the 4th Airmobile Air Force will also take part.

Following the field exercise, one battle group will fly back to McChord. The other two will join U.S. forces in Europe for several months' duty.

Can't Tax Soldier

2nd Worst Fire in Arkansas

MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP)—The fire that destroyed the home of Andrew Paladino and took the lives of all 10 members of his family Monday is the second worst residential fire in Arkansas history.

In December, 1954, a fire killed 14, most of them children, at Parkin. Carl Smalley, head of the Fire Prevention Department of the Arkansas Inspection and Rating Bureau, said the house was occupied by three Mexican families.

The fire started when someone tried to kindle a fire with kerosene, Smalley said.

Leaders to Ask Aid for Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic leaders announced today that they will press legislation for federal aid for colleges as a separate measure from proposed federal funds for public schools.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said chance for approval of school legislation appeared better by splitting the two and taking up the college measure first.

The speaker and other Democratic congressional leaders met with Kennedy at the first of this congressional session's weekly breakfasts at the White House.

"The important thing is to separate the higher education bill," McCormack told reporters.

Both the college and public school aid proposals were bogged down last year in the House Rules Committee. They were victims of a controversy over whether to include aid for parochial schools in the general education measure.

President Kennedy took a stand that aid to church schools was of doubtful constitutionality, but many Roman Catholic leaders insisted parochial schools should have help if federal funds went to public schools.

McCormack, a Roman Catholic as is Kennedy, was one of those who backed aid for parochial schools.

The administration has recommended spending $2.5 billion over the next three years on public school construction and teacher salaries. Its higher education bill would provide $2 billion over a period of years for college buildings and scholarships.

McCormack was asked if the strategy of dealing first with higher education and putting aside the public school proposal for a while was entirely agreeable to Kennedy, who has urged Congress to approve both bills. McCormack said it was "not discussed except in a general way."

Asked whether the order of attack indicated the Democratic leadership would press more diligently for aid to colleges than to public schools, McCormack said no—that "from the tactical angle, opposition to the higher education bill is not as strong as to the general education bill." From that standpoint, he said, it would be "logical" to move first on the boro.

"This does not mean there will not be a determined effort to get the general school bill out of committee," McCormack said.

Millage for Schools at Near Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—December school elections in Arkansas last year resulted in a near-record average school millage.

A statistical yardstick applied by Harvey Snell, budget director for the state Education Department, to reports from elections in the 418 districts of the state shows an average increase of almost one mill—from 35.52 to 36.48.

The record average of 37.25 mills was set in 1957.

Snell said that 318 of the districts voted to keep the same millage, 97 increased millage, five voted a decrease and 16 had proposed increases to fail.

Voting the highest millages in the state were Benton and Alma counties, which approved 50-mill taxes.

Retaining 18 mill taxes, lowest permitted by law, were Ashley county, Mountain view in Stone County, Fourches Valley in Yell County and the Fulton County district.

Snell said the average millage in Arkansas school districts has risen from 24.40 in 1949 to the present level. Decreases were shown only in 1958 and 1959.

Of the 36.48 average millage voted this year, 20.55 mills will go for operating expenses and 15.93 for debt service, Snell said.

Contract Signed for New Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $1,100,148 contract was signed Monday for construction of the Jacuzzi Bros. Inc. pump manufacturing plant at Little Rock.

The contract was signed by Little Rock Mayor Werner C. Knapp and Jack Pickens of the Pickens-Bond construction firm.

The 46½ acre plant site is located about five miles southwest of Little Rock on U.S. Highways 67-70. The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce raised $100,000 to buy the site. Little Rock voters approved a $1,400,000 bond issue last August for construction of the plant.

The city and Jacuzzi signed a 20-year lease agreement Nov. 7, 1961.

18 Catholic Missionaries Are Massacred

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Eighteen Roman Catholic missionaries were killed by Congolese soldiers at Kongo in north Katanga on Jan. 1, church authorities reported today.

A dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent at Bukavu, a Kivu Province town 225 miles northeast of Kongo, said missionaries who escaped the massacre reported the violence to the bishop at Bukavu.

The bodies of the 18 were recovered, the dispatch said. Another missionary was taken away and has not been heard from.

The report to the bishop said troops of the Congo central government attacked missionaries living near Kongo, beat them and then killed them.

President Moise Tshombe of Katanga reported on Jan. 1 that his forces had abandoned Kongo and that the invaders were killing hundreds of civilians and burning villages as they advanced on the town.

Tshombe claimed that the invading troops were under the orders of the Central Congo government, in Leopoldville, but reports since have indicated that they were loyal to pro-Communist Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga, who was put under virtual house arrest in Stanleyville Sunday by central government troops.

Gizenga has been accused of dispatching troops into north Katanga in an effort to establish his own state in the northeast Congo. Units of Gizenga's Stanleyville force were blamed for the murder of 13 Italian U.N. airmen in Kivu Province in November.

The troops in north Katanga and adjoining Kivu Province constitute the bulk of the Stanleyville army which took orders from Gizenga and Gen. Victor Lundula when it took orders from anyone.

Lundula switched his allegiance to the central government and commanded the troops in Stanleyville who put down an insurrection attempt by Gizenga over the weekend and disarmed more than 300 of his gendarmes, his only military force in the leftist's former stronghold.

The central Congo government of Premier Cyrille Adoula is expected to strip Gizenga of his deputy premiership and possibly even put him under formal arrest in Leopoldville, and diplomats in the Congo capital fear there may be an adverse reaction from the troops in Kivu and north Katanga.

French Will Deal Harshly in Algeria

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
ALGIERS (AP)—French authorities studied new and harsher measures today to cope with the tide of violence in Algeria's chamois-clad mountains.

Three killings in Oran boosted the overnight death toll to 20. Half a dozen persons were wounded in combat between European and Moslem terrorist organizations.

Louis Joxe, French minister for Algerian affairs, met with the territory's top officials at the new seaside administrative center of Rocher Noir, 32 miles from Algiers.

They were reported to be discussing the possible proclamation of a state of siege, which would clamp tighter restrictions on Algeria's already closely regulated civil life.

The day's events included a daylight holdup of an Algerian bank by five Europeans. They escaped in a motor car with the equivalent of $18,000. This may have been nothing more than an ordinary crime, but in the tense atmosphere of Algiers it was immediately assumed the Europeans were robbing the bank on behalf of the right-wing French Secret Army Organization.

In Oran, three Europeans were slain and another wounded in a series of attacks attributed to Moslems on the rebel National Liberation Front.

In Algiers, two Moslems were wounded by bullets fired by European terrorists. In Boua, a young Moslem was injured by the explosion of a plastic bomb. In Mostaganem, near Oran, two Moslems working for the French were wounded by gunfire.

Dutch to Fight

The New Guinea coast. They said Indonesia would accuse the Dutch of provocation in a complaint to U.N. acting Secretary-General U. Thant.

At the Hague, Dutch Prime Minister Jan de Quay said after an emergency Cabinet meeting his government also would express to the United Nations "our concern about the Indonesian attack."

He said the Dutch would assure the United Nations "that we remain willing to start negotiations at once" with Indonesia on the future of West New Guinea, which Indonesian President Sukarno has threatened to take by invasion if the Dutch do not give it up. Thant, in similar cables to Sukarno and de Quay, expressed deep concern over the clash and urged both countries to seek a peaceful settlement.

Indonesian and Dutch accounts of the clash differed considerably. The Dutch said their air and naval units patrolling off the south coast of Dutch New Guinea encountered the group of Soviet-built torpedo boats and the Indonesians fired on a Dutch plane. The Dutch plane returned the fire, the Dutch said, and then the Dutch ships joined in the hour-long exchange.

Jan said a Dutch force of one destroyer, one frigate and one plane attacked the Indonesian vessels without warning, and that Indonesian boats were engaged in "purely patrol activity."

No one—even a civilian—with any knowledge of naval matters would imagine that a group of motor torpedo boats constituted an invasion force," he said.

Portugal Faces Red Attacks

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Portugal faced bitter attacks from the Communist and African blocs today as foes of her policy in Angola pressed for condemnation and possible punitive measures by the United Nations.

Poland, cosponsor with Bulgaria of a resolution calling on the Security Council to consider harsh penalties against the Lisbon government, was slated to take the floor as the 104th General Assembly's Angola debate went into its second day.

The former French Congo also was expected to blast Portugal's administration of Angola and to demand freedom for the West African territory.

Informed sources expressed belief the African group would not seek penalties against Portugal but would limit its proposal to a call for condemnation and a demand for Angola's independence.

Any resolution will need Western support to ensure the two-thirds majority required for adoption. The United States reportedly has made clear it does not favor any call for economic sanctions against its NATO ally.

Diplomats said U.S. delegates had told them the United States wants to see a moderate resolution which would prod Portugal to grant self-determination for Angola.

Portuguese Ambassador Vasco Vieira Garin walked out of the debate with his delegation Monday and said he would take no part in discussions of charges of Portuguese terrorism in Angola.

In a heated address, Garin accused the United Nations of bias and described the debate as "insidiously designed, from which only evil can come to Angola and to this organization itself."

He indicated Portugal would not feel bound by any resolutions the assembly might put through against her policies in Angola.

Rights Order Only When Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he will issue an executive order prohibiting racial bans in federally assisted housing—one of his campaign pledges—when he considers it will be in the public interest.

The order will come, he said Monday during his news conference, when in his view it would make "important contributions to advancing the rights of our citizens."

Kennedy claimed that "this administration in the last 12 months made more progress in the field of civil rights on a variety of fronts than were made in the last eight years."

Two Republican senators took issue with him.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said in an interview that "I am not interested in getting into a partisan comparison of the past records of this and previous administrations. The important thing is whether this administration is doing everything it could and should do to advance civil rights now. Regrettably, in my judgment, it is definitely not."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said Kennedy "overlooks the fact that in 1957 and again in 1960 the (Eisenhower) administration got through Congress the first civil rights legislation enacted since the Civil War. It is under this legislation all of the voting suits have been brought."

May Picture the Balloon Trouble

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Television and movie films taken in space are expected to pinpoint the trouble which caused a big space balloon to split apart high above the Atlantic Ocean.

Project officials theorized after the breakup Monday that perhaps the balloon carried too much air when it was launched, folded neatly in a canister aboard a single-stage Thor rocket.

A small amount of air was left in the bundle of plastic to help start the inflation process.

Family to Be Buried Together

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — A single casket bearing the remains of the 10 members of the Andrew Paladino family will be carried into St. Joseph's Catholic church today for funeral services.

Paladino, his wife and eight children died in a fire that destroyed their rambling farm home while they slept early Monday. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The Paladinos were leaders in their community. In 1958 they were named Conway County farm family of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Paladino were 40. Their children were Phillip, 12, David, 11, Beverly, 10, Daniel, 9, Carolyn, 8, Ralph, 6, Jan, 5, and Terry, 3.

Group Plans on Liquor Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Christian Civic Foundation, an anti-liquor group, will sponsor a local option election in 16 wet counties in the November general election, said the Rev. William E. Brown, executive director of the group.

Brown said that the foundation's board voted Monday not to enter any candidates of its own in the summer primary elections, but to look closely at the views and records of those who do run.

Brown declined to name the 16 counties in which he said the foundation will campaign for prohibition of liquor and beer.

Nuclear Test Failure Cited by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says failure to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban was the biggest disappointment of his first year in the White House.

"This," he said, could have been "a very important step in easing tensions."

The most heartening development, he believes, was a "great surge for unity" among the Western Allies and in Latin America.

In his first news conference of the year—five days before the first anniversary of his inauguration—Kennedy touched on nearly a subject a minute Monday, roaming from the farm problem at home to Laos and Berlin abroad.

Steel — He hopes for a quick agreement between industry and the union to avert a strike and the hasty stockpiling of steel that might impede the nation's economic recovery. Contracts expire in June.

Laos—The risk of war is the alternative to the risk of Communist control of coalition governments in Southeast Asia, he said. "We are taking a chance in all of Southeast Asia. We are taking a chance in other areas also." In his judgment "it is in the best interest of our country to work for a neutral and independent Laos."

Farm—Kennedy set a goal of reasonable balance between farm output and demand to insure that the farm income "will not be broken by surpluses, as it was to a substantial extent in the '20s." In his State of the Union message, he promised to present Congress a new farm program geared to the times.

Civil rights—Kennedy said he would issue an order against racial discrimination in federally aided housing when he believes it will serve the public interest and advance the cause of civil rights. He claimed more progress in the field during the last 12 months than the previous eight years and said his record may be judged properly at the end of this year "and at the end of our term."

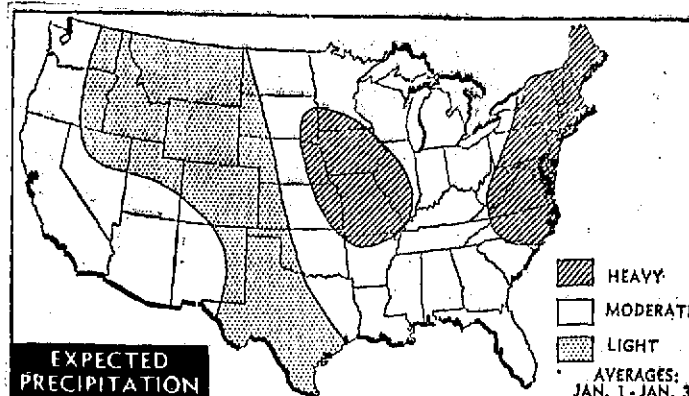

Foreign trade—"When the educational job is done," Kennedy declared, the country will support his request for broad authority to negotiate tariff cuts. He said figures are being prepared in an effort to persuade Congress members that his program would be "most helpful to the United States."

Berlin — Despite reports that U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson has made little progress in talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Kennedy said the discussions would continue in an effort to find a solution for the Berlin crisis. A more precise judgment will be made after the talks have gone on "for a reasonable period."

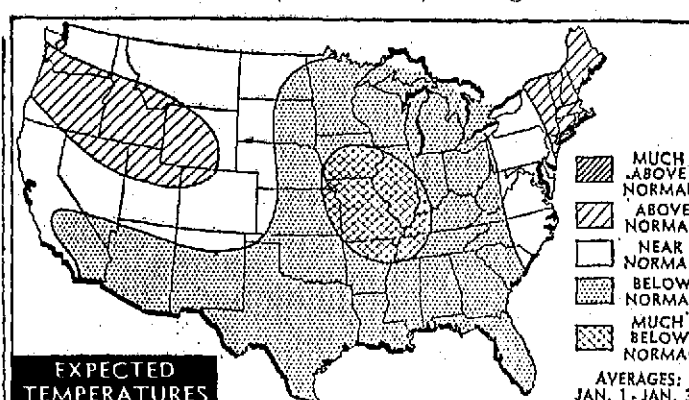

Kennedy stated his previously reported belief that an effort to tear down the Communist-erected wall in Berlin would have precipitated "a very violent reaction which might have taken us down a very rocky road."

In reference to the steel industry's forthcoming contract talks, Kennedy recalled writing David McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers, advocating an agreement that would keep wage increases within the range of increased productivity and price stability.

Kennedy urged a quick agreement to avoid repetition of the inventory buildup in 1958, preceding the last steel negotiations.

Precipitation, much of it snow, will likely exceed normal in parts of Midwest and Northeast; and lighter elsewhere.

Below normal temperatures are expected to prevail all the way from Great Lakes to Gulf Coast and into California.

British Sale of Planes to China Oppose

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department told a congressional critic today that it had opposed a British sale of airplanes to Communist China but that Britain felt it had every right to make its own decision.

The State Department's position was stated in a letter from Assistant Secretary Frederick G. Dutton to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. The senator had protested the transaction to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

In the multimillion-dollar deal the Peiping government late last year purchased six Vickers Viscount airliners. Since then Red China was reported to have begun talks for the purchase of a fleet of Handley Page Herald airliners. Earlier this month, the Rootes Group, one of Britain's biggest motor builders, announced the sale of 130 trucks to Peiping. Cancellation of the sale, Dutton told Keating, would cause a bad public reaction in Britain "largely directed against the United States and, in the judgment of the British government, would cause undue harm to Anglo-American relations."

Dutton said the State Department was consulted in advance about the aircraft deal and told the British "we were opposed to supplying the Chinese Communists with these planes together with the embargoed equipment on them."

Dutton said the British also gave these reasons for completing the deal: The strategically important British aircraft industry is badly in need of orders to maintain employment; the political effect of this purchase of aircraft of Western manufacture would have useful propaganda value; and refusal of the contract would have greatly increased domestic pressures in the United Kingdom against the entire strategic trade control program.

Light Purse, Heavy Heart

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Our hearts are heavy because our marriage has been a continuous fight with poverty. If our two babies hadn't come, we might have caught up with the sheriff, but those dolls, aged two and seven were worth the struggle.

Still, they and we have to eat and that is why we are in our present predicament. It all started when we accepted charity from my husband's folks. They said, "We will buy a house and give it to you rent-free until you are out of debt." What halloo! Words those were to us!

Don't get the idea that we are shiftless. My husband has never been without work, but try as we would, his salary couldn't be stretched far enough to cover living expenses to keep us clothed, fed, and pay off debts. I put the children in a day nursery and got a job myself, and still it was a rat race.

Then along came the in-laws. Too late we realized the lender calls the turns. My husband's parents are here every day telling us what not to do. They hollered high heaven when a cousin I hadn't seen for four years stayed for a Sunday meal, the in-laws throw a fit. They make us account for every cent. We have no decent clothes, not even a telephone! We don't dare take the children riding or to an occasional movie.

"Pay those debts," says my father-in-law. "You are no manager," says my mother-in-law. You would think we were a couple of sinners the way they carry on. Is it so wrong to want a little freedom and a little fun along the way? I am 27 and my husband is 30. —Brow-beaten brief for your in-laws but your letter clearly reveals that there are two sides to this story. Since you and your husband both earn money, there should be enough with budgeting to care for living expenses and apply some on your debts. Your in-laws, realizing this, have gone too far the other way in their anxiety to help, and as a result are attempting to run your lives. You will have the right to tell them to stop only when you prove you can live within your means. Check with your local Board of Education on night courses in home economics. Sign up!

Dear Helen: A misdirected wedding invitation has stirred up a hornet's nest of relatives. Taking the names from a list of those who came to my bridal shower, I addressed the invitation to mother and daughter instead of husband and wife. The recipient is a relative of my husband to be. She called him. I immediately sent out another invitation with a correct name and still she fusses.

Now she intimates that it is the groom, not my folks, who will foot the bills, therefore he should take her advice on how to run the wedding. I feel like jumping up and down on my hat! My people are paying for my wedding. Should I let Mrs. Bullinsky ruin the show? —Upset

Dear Upset: A difference of opinion between in-laws is best handled by blood relatives. Ask your fiancé to explain to Mrs. Bullinsky that, as is customary, his bride's family is responsible for the wedding arrangements and bills. Therefore, it would be in poor taste for him or his relatives to interfere. You are getting a preview of in-law tactics.

They Come to Defense of Groundhog

QUARRYVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Defenders of the groundhog cried out in protest today against charges that, instead of being a weather forecaster, he is a lazy hibernator who sleeps through his big day.

His human allies say the groundhog is a topnotch weather prophet. They are sizzling at the assertion he is interested only in food and romance when he finally awakes.

Groundhog clubs in this eastern Pennsylvania community and in Punxsutawney in the western part of the state charge foul play by the National Geographic Society, which said the groundhog sleeps right through groundhog day, Feb. 2, rather than emerging from his cozy quarters and looking for his shadow.

The old belief is that if the groundhog sees his shadow Feb. 2 there will be six more weeks of winter weather and poor crops; if he doesn't cast his shadow it means an early spring and good harvest.

The Geographic Society said the groundhog hibernates from mid-autumn until March, living off food he eats in the summer. When he emerges, said the society, he isn't thinking of weather but only of romance and food.

"Oh, foul deed!" exclaimed Robert Herr, chairman of the Board of Hibernating Governors of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs in Quarryville.

"Never have we been taken to task like this even by those Punxsutawney fellows who have heaped ridicule on us in the past," said Herr. "This is quite upsetting. This calls for a special convocation of the board of governors."

Herr quoted Dr. David E. Davis, professor of wildlife management at Pennsylvania State University, as saying that five years' research proved the groundhog comes out Feb. 2.

Herr said all the charges by the society "must be investigated to bring justice to the groundhog."

Arkansan Going to S. America

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marvin Melton, chairman of the board of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, will be one of seven members of a recent American trade mission to South America scheduled to report on their findings at a conference here Wednesday.

Melton, of Jonesboro, is also scheduled to make similar reports next month in St. Louis and Los Angeles.

On the seven-week tour of Peru and Ecuador, Melton represented American agricultural interests. There has been speculation in recent weeks that Melton may run for governor of Arkansas in this year's primary election.

Honest Dishwasher Gets His Turn

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An unemployed dishwasher who hitchhiked 1,000 miles to face a $25 hitchhiking citation gets his day in court today.

Ervin Patton Jr., 24, spent the weekend in jail after he thumbed his way from Arkansas and surrendered. He told amazed officers he was cited for hitchhiking on a Los Angeles freeway in November, but returned to Texarkana, Ark., without paying the fine.

Soon he received a routine notice stating a warrant was being issued for his arrest.

"My conscience started bothering me so I scraped up $5 and hitchhiked back here to give myself up. I figured it would be worse (sic) on me if I ever returned to California," he told officers.

They told Patton he could have mailed $25 — and that they would have forgotten the whole affair if they knew he'd left California. The officers predicted lenient moves by Katanga chief Moise court treatment for Patton but he, Tshombe and leftist Antoine G. figures he'll go to jail — "I had zenga."

Orphanage House Mother Dies

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Mrs. Marie Turner Ewell, 62-year-old widow of a Tennessee dentist, died Sunday after a short illness.

Congo Premier to Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cyrille Adoula, premier of the strife-torn Congo, probably will visit the United Nations and also come to Washington next week, U.S. officials say.

The United Nations, with strong backing from the United States, have forgotten the whole affair if they knew he'd left California. The officers predicted lenient moves by Katanga chief Moise court treatment for Patton but he, Tshombe and leftist Antoine G. figures he'll go to jail — "I had zenga."

Secret Storm Viewers in for a Shock

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Constant viewers of CBS' long-playing daytime serial, "Secret Storm" are in for a mild shock next Monday. The face and figure of the principal character will be different, although the name will be the same and the plot will go on and on.

After eight years of playing problem-dogged Peter Ames, department store owner and widower with three children, actor Peter Hobbs has decided to quit the show after next Friday's episode.

He is giving such short notice--his departure is not entirely amicable--that there's no time to wind up the current story line, and as is the usual practice, send the character to India or some remote place to cool off before bringing on the new actor playing the old role.

"I'm sorry to lose Hobbs," said Roy Windsor, producer of the show, "but his leaving isn't a real problem. There's just one answer: re-cast the part. In a daytime serial, it's the character, not the actor, that counts."

Hobbs says he's leaving--"after all, eight years is enough"--largely because he has some television ideas of his own he wants to pursue.

CBS was proud and happy when, recently, it announced a special hour show on Wednesday, Feb. 14 during which Mrs. John F. Kennedy would take the view-

Convict, Free an Hour, Kills and Rapes

TUCKER, Ark. (AP) - A convicted rapist who had been a model prisoner for 15 years escaped from Tucker State Prison farm Monday, killed a man and raped a woman before he was captured 90 minutes later.

The brief crime spree of Charles F. Fields, 30, included a $94 robbery and the theft of three trucks and a car, prison officials said.

Fields was taken into custody without a struggle by Prison Supt. Lee Henslee and Sheriff Harold Norton, who closed in as the convict wrecked a pickup truck only a few miles from the prison.

Fields was held in the prison death cell Monday night for maximum security.

C. A. Mencer, a prosperous Halley, Ark., farmer, was shot to death in a struggle with Fields after he stopped to aid the convict. Fields had wrecked the first pickup truck he stole.

Fields later raped a farmer's wife and stole the family's pickup truck.

Fields was sentenced to life for rape in 1947 in Yellville, Ark., when he was 15 years old. Capt. Jim Bruton, a prison officer, said he had never given prison officials any trouble. He was made a trusty and given a job tending hogs.

At times he was allowed to carry a .44 caliber pistol to kill wild dogs which menaced the livestock.

Yesterday, he walked away from the sprawling prison farm, carrying the pistol. He hiked three miles to the town of Altzheimer where B. C. Howard, a prison employee who was driving a pickup truck, spotted him.

Howard stopped and Fields pulled the gun on him. He forced Howard to give him $94 and the truck, and he went southwest on U.S. Highway 79 toward Pine Bluff. He wrecked the truck on a curve, it was then that Mencer stopped to aid him. Burton said Fields got into the car and ordered Mencer to drive him to Memphis, Tenn., and Mencer refused, struggled, and was shot twice in the chest. The car was wrecked in the struggle.

Fields walked to a nearby store and ordered a truck driver to take him to Memphis, Bruton said. But the truck didn't go fast enough, so Fields got between Sheriff and Altzheimer on Highway 79.

It was then, officers said, that he raped the farm woman. Her husband, who had been warned of the convict by officers as he worked in his field, hurried home and found Fields there. Fields took the farmer's truck at gunpoint, and wrecked it as officers closed in.

He surrendered without a struggle, dropping his gun and asking the officers not to shoot. Charges were pending.

Debt Hike Is Sought, Byrd Charges

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said today President Kennedy is requesting a $10-billion increase in the national debt limit.

Byrd announced a sweeping inquiry into the nation's financial condition.

The Virginia senator said in an interview he will ask the Senate Finance Committee, which he heads, to go into all aspects of federal spending and taxation before it acts on a proposed boost of the limit from $298 billion to a record-breaking $308 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said in a memorandum to Byrd and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, that such an increase is necessary if the Treasury is to meet its future bills.

Dillon asked for a boost of $2 billion before March 1 and $8 billion for the fiscal year beginning next July 1. He said this would cover an estimated peak debt of $304.5 billion next Dec. 16 and give the Treasury about the $3 billion elbow room it needs to operate under the ceiling.

Byrd said he is willing to go along with the temporary increase to $300 billion because "the President told me personally that otherwise the government couldn't pay its bills."

"But before we make any further increases, I think the country should be told exactly where we stand financially," he said. "We have gone along the road of reckless spending and debt increases as far as we can go."

"I know of no more pressing duty on the Congress than to obtain as clear a picture as possible of these unconscionable debts and then appraise the situation to find out what can be done about them. Our tax burden is the highest in history and to increase it substantially would have serious repercussions."

Noting that the country has been on a deficit financing basis in 26 of the last 31 years, Byrd said he thinks this year's bulge of expenditures may climb as high as $10 billion above receipts. The Treasury has forecast a $6.9-billion deficit.

"The President estimates a nominal surplus in the year beginning next July 1," Byrd said. "I predict another deficit because I do not believe revenues will rise by the $11 billion he is estimating."

Grant to McRae

WASHINGTON (AP) The Public Health Service announced Monday a $21,315 grant to McRae, Ark., to finance a sewage disposal project. The estimated total cost of the project is $73,050.

any trouble. He was made a trusty and given a job tending hogs.

At times he was allowed to carry a .44 caliber pistol to kill wild dogs which menaced the livestock.

Yesterday, he walked away from the sprawling prison farm, carrying the pistol. He hiked three miles to the town of Altzheimer where B. C. Howard, a prison employee who was driving a pickup truck, spotted him.

Howard stopped and Fields pulled the gun on him. He forced Howard to give him $94 and the truck, and he went southwest on U.S. Highway 79 toward Pine Bluff. He wrecked the truck on a curve, it was then that Mencer stopped to aid him. Burton said Fields got into the car and ordered Mencer to drive him to Memphis, Tenn., and Mencer refused, struggled, and was shot twice in the chest. The car was wrecked in the struggle.

Fields walked to a nearby store and ordered a truck driver to take him to Memphis, Bruton said. But the truck didn't go fast enough, so Fields got between Sheriff and Altzheimer on Highway 79.

It was then, officers said, that he raped the farm woman. Her husband, who had been warned of the convict by officers as he worked in his field, hurried home and found Fields there. Fields took the farmer's truck at gunpoint, and wrecked it as officers closed in.

He surrendered without a struggle, dropping his gun and asking the officers not to shoot. Charges were pending.

The Road to the Snail

Chapter XX

Dennis's arrest, and the circumstances attending his subsequent release, provided a lovely field-day of gossip for the village.

But when Dennis left jail and returned to his futile, solitary work on the road, the fun seemed to be over. Everything was back where it had started; the Marquesa entertaining lavishly at her villa, and Dennis slaving away hopelessly on the mountainside.

Morley, the moody Britisher, quite calmly clattered the South African painter who had been abusing Nicole, the French girl. The South African packed his paints and went away, and Morley and Nicole began spending their days together on the beach.

Polly Soames broke her collarbone diving fully-into a half-filled swimming pool.

Zoggy O'Neill's passport fell into a bucket of bleach, and all the pages turned completely white. For a confusing week Zoggy became a meaningless cipher in the sum of official humanity; there was no account of his arrivals or departures, no indication that he had ever been born or christened, no record of an appointed priest, minister or undertaker to claim his shadowy remains. In this technical vacuum, Zoggy refused to read his mail or answer to his name.

Adam Barn sold his piece on Dennis to a small but burgeoning magazine called America The Beautiful, distributed solely through laundromats.

He came puffing up to my villa and collapsed into a chair.

"Just read this," he said, handing me the check.

"It's made out to you for $200," I said.

"You're certain? You wouldn't lie?" Adam's eyes filled with tears. "No, of course you wouldn't. You're good and kind. There is goodness in the world. I know that now."

"What did you write about Dennis that was worth $200?"

Kidnapers of a Clerk Are Caught

MEMPHIS (AP) - A young couple, charged with kidnaping a Memphis liquor store clerk and leaving him bound on an Arkansas road, was arrested near Fort Worth, Tex., today, the FBI said.

Karl W. Dissly, agent in charge of the Memphis office, said FBI agents seized the couple in a motel on a federal kidnaping warrant. He identified them as Charles Slater about 20 and Billy Jean Holton, about 30.

The clerk, Max Phillips, 62, was robbed at knifepoint last Dec. 29 by a man and woman who forced him into their car and drove across the Mississippi River into Arkansas. Phillips was trussed up bound, gagged and left on a roadside near West Memphis.

The federal warrant was sworn out because Phillips was forcibly taken across a state line.

About $130 was stolen in the liquor store holdup.

Ohio State Is Only Top Team Still Unbeaten

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Midterm examinations rather than opposing basketball teams, are the chief concerns of Ohio State's Buckeyes today as they once more carry the tag as the nation's top college team after the latest Associated Press poll.

The Buckeyes (12-0), the only major unbeaten team, play Minnesota on Saturday night and spend the rest of the week with those ever-fearsome books.

However, two teams in the top 10 are in action tonight, Cincinnati (11-2), ranked third, takes on tough Dayton and eighth-ranked Bowling Green meets Kent State.

Kentucky (12-1), which jumped into the No. 2 spot in the opinion of the countrywide board of experts, won't play again until Jan. 29.

Because of the midterm exams, the top 10 teams have little activity this week. Southern Cal and Duke are idle until Feb. 2 and Jan. 27, respectively.

The only matching of the top teams occurs on Thursday when Cincinnati and Duquesne play in Pittsburgh.

The top 10 teams based on a 10-9-8 etc. vote count, with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (41)	410
2. Kentucky	354
3. Cincinnati	322
4. Kansas State	269
5. Duquesne	163
6. Southern California	162
7. Duke	111
8. Bowling Green	109
9. Bradley	97
10. Mississippi State	63

Piersall to Begin His Bargaining

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Piersall begins bargaining sessions today that are expected to make him the highest priced baseball player in Washington history.

Through the fleet-footed outfielder tossed off a couple of light remarks about his 1962 contract, there was no doubt he is deadly serious where money is concerned.

Last season was Piersall's best. He hit .322 for Cleveland before being traded to the Senators last fall for pitcher Dick Donovan, who had the American League's best earned run average, and two other players.

In addition to his best season at bat and his usual defensive brilliance, Piersall was involved in a feud with Cleveland sports-writers, a much publicized fight with fans who invaded the playing field, and a number of other incidents. He also knows he probably will be the biggest drawing card on a team which last year tied for last place.

All of this is expected to prompt a demand for a sizable increase over the estimated $40,000 he got at Cleveland. The highest paid slugger first baseman-outfielder Senator to date was Roy Sievers, now with the Philadelphia Phillies. He got an estimated $38,000.

Piersall's negotiations with General Manager Ed Doherty were scheduled for Monday, but Doherty was stranded by a snowstorm in Chicago.

Khrushchev, Farmers At Odds

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a speech published today sharply criticized the farmers of Byelorussia for letting 15 per cent of their hogs die last year.

"This is the result of a lack of fodder and bad treatment of livestock," the premier said.

Khrushchev told the farmers he had not come "to read Pushkin's poems to you. You will read poems without me. I came here to expose shortcomings."

Khrushchev delivered his speech at Minsk last Friday. The Soviet news agency Tass then described it as a big speech to 1,300 agricultural workers from all over Byelorussia, but did not report anything he said. His speech was published today in Pravda, the Communist party paper.

The premier disclosed that besides the loss of 516,000 hogs, 395,000 pigs died from poor treatment and lack of feed. He also told the farmers they sold the government 499,000 head of underweight cattle, apparently because of a lack of fodder.

Frogs, toads, newts and salamanders are the most common amphibians. They represent an intermediate stage of development between fishes and reptiles.
